The Board, through formal delegated authorities as set out in the "Delegated Matrix," delegates management of the day-to-day activities and management responsibilities of the Company to the CEO (who is accountable for the strategic direction and achievement of goals determined by the Board) and management to whom authority is delegated with the approval of the Board. The delegations of authorities shall be consistent with the Policies approved by the Board (including, without limitation, the Treasury, Energy Trading and Carbon Policies).

Between meetings of the Board, the Chair maintains an informal link between the Board and the CEO and expects to be kept informed by the CEO on all important matters. Only decisions or instructions of the Board acting as a whole are binding on the CEO. Decisions of individual directors or committees are not binding on the CEO except where specific prior authorisation is given by the Board.

The Board's role is to monitor the performance of the CEO against the Board's requirements and expectations and to take timely action if the objective of the Company is not being achieved or a correction to management is required.

1.6 Boards Relationship with subsidiaries

The Board will appoint to each subsidiary company, directors with the qualifications and experience required to maximise the value of the investment involved, the ability to address the complexity involved and to ensure compliance with all obligations of the subsidiary and to comply with any applicable regulatory requirements.

2. COMPOSITION OF THE BOARD

2.1. Shareholder's Director Nominations Committee

Directors are appointed by the shareholder. The Chair of the Board is a member of the shareholder's director nominations committee (a sub-committee of the Top Energy Consumer Trust Board of Trustees). The Chair will ensure that Committee is informed as to the skills, diversity, experience, and attributes that the Board believe are required so as to ensure that the Board can meet the demands facing the Company and can work co-operatively and effectively.

2.2. Appointments to the Board

Written appointment letters establishing the terms of their appointment will be provided to all directors for their signature.

Directors must fully commit to giving the time needed to be effective as a director of the Company and are expected to observe the highest standards of ethical behaviour to comply with the Governance Code and this Charter. Each director acknowledges that their appointment is made within the terms of the Company's Constitution and their re-appointment (should the director make themselves available for re-appointment) will be made by the shareholder(s), generally at the annual meeting.

2.3. Board Membership

The Board has adopted the following principles:

- (a) a Board member should not have any significant conflict of interest that is potentially detrimental to the Company, including:
 - (i) affiliations with competitors of the Company; and
 - (ii) affiliations with parties that are likely to be a counter-party to a transaction with the Company where that affiliated party might receive commercial benefit to the potential detriment of the Company. In practice, however, such conflicts may arise in the course of a director's tenure and procedures for dealing with these situations are contained in 3.2;

3. INDEPENDENCE, INTERESTS, AND CONFLICT MANAGEMENT

3.1. Independence Definition

A director is regarded as having a relationship that may compromise his or her ability to act independently when that director:

- (a) is, directly or indirectly, an advisor or consultant to the Company;
- (b) has a personal service contract with the Company;
- (c) is a director of or employed by, or is a member of, an organisation that has an interest in an existing business relationship with the Company, or which has an interest in establishing a business relationship with the Company or any subsidiary or associate of the Company;
- (d) is a member of the immediate family of any person described above;
- (e) has had any of the relationships described above with any affiliate of the Company.

For the avoidance of doubt, the fact that a director is a power consumer connected to the Company's power network, either directly or via an organisation of which he or she is involved, does not, of itself, indicate a conflict of interest or raise issues of independence.

3.2. Procedures in respect of independence or conflict-of-interest

A director must declare to the Board any relationship that might compromise his or her ability to act independently from management (see 3.1) or any conflicts of interest that are potentially detrimental to the Company (see 3.4). This information will be recorded as part of the Board's records and will be available to all directors at the commencement of each Board meeting. Every meeting of the Board will, at the commencement of the meeting, consider the issue of possible conflicts of interest and the accuracy of the record of declarations made by each director.

Each independent director of the Board will, at least annually, review and certify to the rest of the Board, that they are in agreement with the basis and value of related party transactions disclosed in the statutory financial statements, for the preceding year.

It is the responsibility of every director to identify a possible conflict of interest as soon as it becomes apparent to that director that the consideration of any specific matter may raise issues of possible conflict or independence. Once raised, it will become the responsibility of the other Board members to consider whether the director should withdraw from any further consideration of the matter and/or exercise a vote on the matter, should one be required.

3.3. Confidentiality of Company Information

A director who has confidential information in his or her capacity as a director must not disclose that information to any person, make use of or act on that information, except:

- (a) for the purposes of the Company;
- (b) as required or permitted by law; and
- (c) in complying with the director's obligation to disclose his or her interest in a transaction with the Company.

3.4. General Conflicts

Directors are required to take all reasonable steps to avoid actual, potential, or perceived conflict-of-interest.

Examples of a conflict-of-interest include, but are not limited to:

- (a) material affiliations with competitors of the Company; and
- (b) material affiliations with parties that are likely to be a material, or regular counterparty to a transaction with the Company.

When an actual or perceived conflict of interest is identified the director concerned shall not attend any part of meeting of the Board (or Committee) at which the matter is to be discussed or deliberated on, nor may that director cast a vote in respect of such matter, unless the Chair shall have determined otherwise.

3.5. Corporate Opportunities

Directors will not take any opportunity discovered through the use of the Company's property, information, or position for themselves or for persons with whom they have a relationship.

3.6. Business Relationships to be Disclosed

Before accepting appointment to the Board, and thereafter as they occur, a director is required to disclose to the Board his or her business relationships that may have a bearing on his or her role as a director of the Company or which are relevant to the matters referred to in 2.3, 3.1, or 3.4.

3.7. Disclosure of directors' information

The Company's annual report will include information about each director including their qualifications, experience, length of service and remuneration.

4.2 Directors are expected to keep themselves abreast of changes and trends in the environment and markets in which the Company operates as well as trends in the economic, political, social, and legal climate generally.

4.3 The Board will annually determine any training requirements that are appropriate for all members to participate in to lift the capability of the Board.

5.1. Principal Duties

The Directors will:

- (a) when exercising powers or performing duties, act in good faith and in what the director believes to be the best interests of the Company. - (b) exercise their powers for a proper purpose;

 - (iii) the position of the director and the nature of the responsibilities undertaken by him or her;

- (h) advance the legitimate interests of the Company.

5.2. Reliance on Information

A director may rely on information, financial data and professional or expert advice given by any of the following:

- (i) an employee of the Company who the director believes on reasonable grounds to be reliable and competent in relation to the matters concerned;
- (j) a professional advisor or expert in relation to matters which the director believes on reasonable grounds to be within the person's competence; or
- (k) any other director or committee of directors upon which the director did not serve in relation to matters within the director's or committee's delegated authority.

Prior to relying on information, financial data and professional or expert advice given as referred to above, a director should make inquiry as to the extent, if any, such information, financial data or advice has been prepared with the assistance of artificial intelligence (AI) tools.

If AI tools have been used in the preparation of such information data and/or advice, the director should consider making further inquiries as follows:

- (iv) how have the AI tools been used and what risks arise as a result of their use;
- (iv) the person or persons preparing the information and/or advice has satisfied themselves that the information and data is accurate, and the AI tool(s) used to assist in its preparation are reliable and robust;
- (iv) the person or persons preparing the information, data or advice are not aware of any reason why the AI tool(s) used would result the information data or advice being inaccurate such that it should not be relied on; and
- (iv) that notwithstanding the use of AI tools in the preparation of the information data and/or advice, such information data and/or advice is provided by an employee or advisor or director or committee of directors who the director is satisfied are reliable and competent to prepare such information and data and the provision of advice is within the adviser's or expert's professional competence.

A director may only rely on information from other persons not referred to above, if the director:
